WATCHED ARTIST'S LIPS

To See When She Stopped as the Music Continued.

Probably many people who attended the recital given last Wednesday night by Claire Lillian Peters and Sibyl Sanderson Fagan at the Barre opera house were at first puzzled and disappointed when they discovered a phonograph cabinet occupying the center of the stage.

They hardly were reassured when Mr. Humphrey appeared on the stage and commenced to talk about "Re-creations." It finally became apparent that the phonograph was at least to receive assistance from the singers but even then the mental outlook was not exactly bright.

Mr. Humphrey explained that the purpose of the recital was to illustrate that Thomas A. Edison, after years of work, had achieved his ideal of perfecting a musical instrument which would actually re-create music so that the re-creation would be indistinguishable from the original.

This was a broad claim but it was established before the evening was over for the artists actually stood beside the New Edison phonograph and performed in unison with Mr. Edison's re-creation—so called—of their performances. This would have proved little as the artists might easily have overbalanced the tone of the instrument—swallowed it up—so to speak; but they did more—or, to be accurate, less. They paused from time to time, apparently at random and permitted their re-created performances to be heard alone. (This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other and it is no more than just to state that there was no discernible difference in tone quality.)

There must have been a slight difference in volume when the artists stopped singing or playing but it was noticeable, for the tone which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all of the vibrant, pulsating quality of that which came directly from the artists' throats. Only by watching the artists' lips could one be sure when they sang or whistled and when they did not.

Music such as Mr. Edison has given to the world is especially gratifying and inspiring and it is interesting to know that several thousand New Editions, especially encased in durable film cabinets, were furnished to the boys in camp and "over there" without profit to Mr. Edison.

The recital was arranged by Drown's Drug Store.—adv.

G. J. Perkins of Hardwick was in the city to-day on business.

Miss Annie Deane of Brooklyn street began duties for the DeLuce Mfg. Co. in Montpelier to-day.

Mrs. Charles Colombo of Cambria street underwent an operation at the City hospital Saturday.

A son was born at the City hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. James Lambert of 94 Brook street.

There will be a meeting of the L. A. A. O. H. in Worthen hall Tuesday evening at 7:30. Initiation and refreshments.

Miss Hilda Martinson, a student of the University of Vermont, spent the week end at her home on Washington street.

In order to accommodate people employed in stores, the curtain on "Oh, Lady, Lady" at the opera house will not rise until 8:30.—adv.

Mrs. Harold Austin and child of Providence, R. I., arrived here last evening to visit Mrs. Austin's aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Nicholson of Elm street.

Leon Cummings of the East Montpelier road has brought the house on Merchant street owned by the late David Welch. Mr. Cummings buys for a home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rowley of Highland avenue are shipping their household goods to Jackson, Mich., where they plan to reside in the near future, leaving here sometime this week.

Lester W. Heath passed away Oct. 25 in Boston. The remains will be brought to Vermont, and the funeral will be held in the Methodist church in Williamstown Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 1 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Robins, who were recently married in Littleton, N. H., and who have been spending their honeymoon touring by automobile, arrived in the city Saturday and have taken up their residence at Hotel Barre.

Netops, attention! Witches and spirits of darkness of the Netop class will hold a thundering, blood-curdling social at Mrs. H. Stewart's, 81 Washington street, Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 8. Gentlemen invited. Be sure and come masked.

Bans of marriage were published at St. Monica's church in Barre and at St. Augustine's church in Montpelier between Charles Zanoni, Jr., of Barre, and Miss Eleanor B. Doyle of Montpelier. The wedding is set for Nov. 12 at the Catholic church in Montpelier.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Arbuckle in East Montpelier, Harold O. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Clark of that town, and a farmer by occupation, was married to Miss Abbie R. Arbuckle at her home by Rev. J. B. Reardon of Barre at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

E. A. Prindle was in Winookan yesterday, where from the Fanny Allen hospital he brought his wife, who has been in that institution for the past eight weeks. Mrs. Prindle returns home much improved in health. She suffered a paralytic shock in the middle of August. She is able to walk a little. Her physicians are confident that she will soon be enjoying perfect health.

Herman Williams of Groton, who was charged with non-support of his wife, was brought into municipal court this morning before Judge E. L. Scott, complaint having been made by Grand Juror J. W. Miers of Marshfield. Williams pleaded guilty to the charge, but the court was satisfied that there were two parties to the case, so Williams was allowed to go, after paying the costs of court, $12.50, and agreeing to furnish support to his wife and child at the order of the court.

In order to help carry out the arrangement for the fair distribution of sugar, the grocers of Barre are giving register checks with each cash purchase, so that when the stores have sugar these checks will be used for the apportionment of sugar. When these checks are turned in they will entitle the customer to buy one-half pound of white sugar or one pound of brown sugar for each dollar of other groceries purchased, providing, of course, there is sugar in stock. The checks are good only until Saturday night of the week of the issue. The grocers say they realize this is not a perfect system, but they consider it the best that can be secured for the present.

The seniors of Spaulding high school had charge of chapel at the school this morning, and Roosevelt exercises were held in honor of Theodore Roosevelt, whose birthday anniversary came today.

Cor. Miss Corinne Eastman presided. The school orchestra, consisting of five violins, a cello, two cornets, a clarinet, drums and the piano, played as the school and 11 of the teachers marched in. Aldo Poletti recited extracts from a speech by Roosevelt on national questions; Leslie Ladd read extracts from a speech by Major-General Leonard Wood at the time the name of Sheep Mountain was changed to Mount Theodore Roosevelt; and Miss Lucy Wells read a poem by Samuel Valentine Cole on Roosevelt. The exercises were excellent and were followed with marked interest.

Two large congregations greeted Rev. William McK. Kittredge, pastor-elect of the Presbyterian church, at the services yesterday. Rev. Mr. Kittredge brought to his new parishioners a message of hope for the new union and both in and out of the pulpit made a very agreeable impression. Preparations for his installation are being completed. The services will be held at 7:30 in the church auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 4. Rev. James Smith of Manchester, N. H., moderator of this presbytery, will deliver the sermon, and Dr. Archibald of Portland, Me., and Rev. F. L. Laird of West Barre will deliver the charges to the church and congregation. Immediately after the formal services, a public reception will be held in the church vestry, to which all friends of the church will be welcomed. It is expected that the several ministers in the city will also be present.

but with the solicitude that will be born of love and not of doubt. I shall watch this church to see if it does its duty, standing strongly for the faith and love, for the reverence for God and Christ, for honor for men, for sympathy for suffering and for helpfulness for the world. The recent financial drive carried on in connection with this church has placed you financially beyond the possibility of embarrassment for the next three years at least, besides making provision for all your indebtedness. This will make it much easier for my successor. My work here is done.

"As I have never claimed perfection of character, or of service, although endeavoring humbly and sincerely to follow Christ, I will not dare to promise you a perfect man for my successor. I have a great and deep affection for this parish with whom I have worked in such loving companionship for nearly eight years, and I shall miss you when I go away. Our home will always be open to you all. I pray that your future may be as pleasant and prosperous as your love and loyalty have made these eight years to me and mine."

Rev. Mr. Reardon will not leave the city immediately but will remain a few weeks to close up his work in the church department of the city and to close up other business deals.

FUNERAL OF ROBERT MCKNIGHT

Was Held Saturday Afternoon, Many People Attending.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock was held the funeral of the late Robert McKnight, who for nearly 30 years had been employed by the Harrison Granite Co. Rev. F. L. Goodspeed officiated during the ceremony and, as though he would have been more at home leading his army than being entertained by a nation.

The Smith, Schoff and Paschall company of St. Albans, with a capital stock of $150,000 has filed papers of association with the secretary of state. The purpose of the company is to do about all kinds of business, including real estate, insurance. Special mention is made of the man acting as trustee for women who have property to manage. The papers are signed by Fuller C. Smith and Charles E. Schoff of St. Albans and Walter B. Paschall of Oklahoma, Okla.

Harold O'Brien, who strained his heart some months ago in the Capital garage, is able to be out of doors again.

Mrs. George E. Richards, who has been with her husband here while he reported the Long trial, went to her home in Boston Sunday afternoon. Her father, Charles Foster, is not feeling very well, so Mrs. Richards went home. For many years her family lived in Montpelier. She was known here as Carolyn Foster, and they lived on Vine street. She has spent quite a little of the time here visiting old friends. Her grandfather was owner of the Union house and later of the Montpelier house, two hotels in Montpelier.

The funeral of Frank E. York occurred at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from his late home in East Montpelier.

He died Saturday morning after about two months' illness, having suffered a shock. He was a native of Waterbury, born 65 years ago, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George York. He had lived in and about East Montpelier most of his life. He was married 33 years ago to Miss Ellen Gould of East Montpelier, who, with two sisters, survives the deceased. The interment was in Cutler cemetery.

"Jim" Laird gave a good account of himself from the reports received here Sunday relative to the football game between Princeton and Colgate, which was played Saturday afternoon, in which Colgate won 7 to 0. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Laird of Montpelier and played right halfback on the winning team. They play next week against Dartmouth college.

Four persons, who were injured in an automobile accident Friday, were reported Sunday as being on the road to recovery, although two of them were very ill at the Waterbury hotel, it was reported. Those in the party were Doris Moriarty, Irene Bruce and Richard Luce of Waterbury and Clyde Lawless of Barre. The boys seemed to escape serious injury while the girls suffered quite serious injuries. It appears that they were driving from Stowe when in some manner Mr. Luce lost control of his machine, with the result that it went into the bank, bringing some rocks from the side of the bank. Miss Brock was thrown to the veranda of John LaTouche's house, which is close to the road, and badly injured.

The store of John Dobbs was broken Sunday night and, as far as could be learned this morning, only a few bottles of wine were stolen. The break was discovered this morning by Mr. Dobbs, when he went to the place. He found that the break was made through a window. Although there was no liquor in the store the robber or robbers did not touch that, only taking some 13 quart bottles of wine, which was easy of access on a shelf in the store. There was wall paper and candy in the store as well as liquor, which was not touched.

Mrs. Clara Rowell Andrews, wife of Percy Andrews, died at Heaton hospital during the night after a long illness of a tubercular trouble. She was a native of the city and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rowell. Her life for the most part was passed in Montpelier. She was married four years ago Oct. 18, to Percy Andrews. For a time they lived in Massachusetts, then they returned to Montpelier. The deceased is survived by her husband, one daughter, and her mother, Mrs. Anna Rowell, and a brother, Fred Rowell, of Montpelier. The funeral will probably be held Wednesday.

MONTPELIER

Martin Jeromine Died in Hospital in West Virginia.

The body of Martin Jeromine is expected here early this week from West Virginia, where he died the last of the week in a hospital. He was in the army and suffered an operation for removal of his tonsils, after which he developed pneumonia and failed so that the first of last week his father was called to his side. The young man seemed to be getting better when on Friday he had a relapse. Death occurred that day. Late information is that the body will be here Tuesday. The deceased was 25 years of age. He was a native of Elmire, attended Montpelier seminary and studied law two years in the office of Seater and Seater, and served in the army. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jeromine, three brothers, Ray, Earl and Forrest, and a sister, Beulah. The funeral arrangements are not completed.

A conference of the state board of education of Vermont and similar organizations of New Hampshire will occur Oct. 30 and 31 at Woodstock, when the members of the two boards will talk over the work each state is trying to do. This is a novel feature, for until New Hampshire enacted its law last winter, there have been no two states in the union that had laws near enough alike so that conference could be held to discuss the problems of the two states. The New Hampshire law has been almost a duplicate of the Vermont law on education.

Train Dispatcher Buck of the Central Vermont railway was in the city this morning in connection with the management of the railway.

Reports from Mrs. Joseph Joyal, who was operated upon last week at Mary Fletcher hospital, are that she is making a good recovery. The operation was of a very serious nature.

W. L. Coggins of Boston has been engaged as district superintendent of the Addison northwest district. Mr. Coggins has been considerable experience, having taught in the rural schools, been principal of schools and supervisor in city and district work in Massachusetts and Maine.

Dr. M. L. Hillegas has returned from New York, where on Saturday, as one of the trustees of Columbia university, he attended the presentation of the statue of L. L. D. to King Albert of Belgium. The king appeared quite ill at the ceremony, and as far as could be ascertained, he was not feeling very well, so Mrs. Richards went home. For many years her family lived in Montpelier. She was known here as Carolyn Foster, and they lived on Vine street. She has spent quite a little of the time here visiting old friends.
